New Council Hits Street Lighting Ordinance

FIVE MEET FOR CONSIDERATION OF REFERENDUM

Gordon Says City-Wide Vote To Be Demanded If Mayor Approves Contract

'RAILROADING' CHARGED

10-Year Clause and Increase in Cost Opposed

If Mayor W. J. Graham does not veto the ordinance on the 10-year street lighting contract with the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., referendum petitions to put the issue before voters will be placed in circulation immediately.

This was announced Friday by Councilman Ben H. Gordon following a "secret" meeting of members of the new council and a group of citizens in a second floor office at Gordon's store on W. Main street, Thursday night.

Five members of the council to take office the first of the year were present. The group included Gordon, Julius Helweggen, W. M. Reid, John Neudinger, and Donald Mason. Clarence Helvering, new councilman, was invited to the meeting, but was unable to attend because of illness. Mr. Gordon said he talked with Mr. Helvering, Friday, and he was "in line" with the program. Frank Lynch, new councilman, spoke before the present council urging approval of the utility contract. It was understood he was not invited to the conference.

'Railroading' Charged

"I did not want to go lone-handed on the proposition," Mr. Gordon said. "Now I know I have the support of other members of council. The new councilmen feel it was 'railroaded'."

Mr. Gordon said those present opposed a 10-year contract, and since the city owes a bill of $3,500 for lights, and were not in favor of adding more expense.

He contended that every new councilman wants a better system of lighting. Mr. Gordon believes the city should purchase a lighting system, with wires underground, and buy current from the utility on a meter basis.

Petition blanks have been obtained and will be filled out as soon as the group knows definitely what action the mayor will take. The ordinance was passed by a five to two vote last Monday. It was submitted to the mayor Tuesday by the clerk of council. Mayor Graham has ten days to con-

Auto Accidents Injure Three; Cars Damaged

Three persons suffered minor injuries Friday when an auto and road grader were involved in a collision on Route 22 about 100 feet west of the corporation line near the river bridge.

Chauncey D. Pichel, 4530 Paddock road, Cincinnati, and his sister, Mrs. Bernice Shaw, also of Cincinnati, were treated in Berger hospital. Mr. Pichel was bruised. His sister was treated for chest bruises, a lacerated upper lip and abrasions on the face.

Charles Grooms, 531 S. Scioto street, Circleville, operator of the grader, escaped with bruises. Deputy Sheriff Earl Weaver investigated the accident. The auto, he said, struck one of the grader wheels.

An auto driven by Mrs. Jack Starkey, Circleville, and the car of Dwight Steele, 416 S. Court street, were damaged in a mishap Thursday night. A police report says the auto Mrs. Starkey drove collided with the parked car of Mr. Steele on S. Court street. Mrs. Starkey was driving north. She was taken to Berger hospital for treatment for nervous shock after the mishap.

OUTLAWS FLEE WITH $24,800

Postal Clerk, Policeman Wounded By Robbers In Illinois

LOCKPORT, Ill., Dec. 3—(UP)—Five bandits carrying machine guns held up a postal clerk and his police escort today and escaped with $24,800.

The clerk and a policeman were wounded slightly by bullets from the robbers' guns.

The clerk, John West, guarded by Police Chief Fred Lintner, was placing the money in his automobile prior to transporting it to the First National bank of Lockport when a light delivery truck drew up to the rear of the postoffice.

Three men armed with sub-machine guns leaped from the truck and started firing. West fell with a bullet wound in the leg.

The robbers threw the money bag into the truck and pushed Lintner into the rear compartment.

The bandits wore blue hankerchiefs over their faces.

As the robbers fled down a main Lockport street one pointed a gun at Lintner and said "let's bump him off." Another robber then fired two shots at the police chief, but the bullets merely grazed him. Six blocks from the bank the men threw Lintner from the truck and sped toward Chicago.

DE SEVERSKY IN AIR

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(UP)—Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky took off from Floyd Bennett field at 11:17 a. m. today on a non-stop flight to Havana, Cuba. De Seversky flew a monoplane of his own design.

indicated a sort of back to the farm movement in thievery. "It looks as if the city fellows are going to the country now to do their stealing," Black said.

"These fellows have it all worked out," Black said. "They know that most people go to church or prayer meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and that's when they strike."

"We've about 600 miles of roads up in Madison county," Harbage interposed. "I think it would be a good idea if we hired a man to patrol the roads and not let him patrol where he was going each night. We'd let the sheriff draw a map of the route he was to take, and then the rustlers wouldn't know where he would be."

Black said he thought it was an excellent suggestion. He recalled that several years ago a group of cattle owners in Ohio organized into a "minute-man" organization to rout rustlers.

Harbage liked this idea, too. He figured he could get "about 30 or 40 people in Madison county to join such an organization."

"I'd be one myself," he added. "Maybe I wouldn't be so fast as the others but a lot of times it's the man in the rear who makes the catch."

HOUSE, SENATE BLOCS MENACE FARM MEASURE

McNary, Copeland Seeking To Return Bill To Committee

AMENDMENTS STUDIED

Barkley May Order Tests Of Revisions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., today attacked the administration crop control bill in the senate on grounds that it would "punish" non-participating farmers and put participating farmers "in a price strait-jacket."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—Bi-partisan opposition blocs in both the house and senate threatened today to delay quick action on President Roosevelt's No. 1 special session legislative item—a crop control measure.

Minority Leader Charles L. McNary, R., Ore., and Sen. Royal S. Copeland, D., N. Y., led a drive in the senate to send that chamber's measure back to the agriculture committee.

Believing that the measure's opponents would not have enough strength to recommit it, administration leaders sought a vote on amendments which have been offered during two weeks of debate.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., planned to begin voting on committee amendments today, although at least one more opposition speech was expected.

The house will resume reading of its 86-page bill at page nine today after an entire day had disposed of only part of its soil conservation title. Leaders plans were upset considerably by a close victory of a dairy states bloc which succeeded in forcing inclusion in the bill of an amendment to protect the dairy industry against undue expansion.

A. B. WILKERSON, 88, DEAD AFTER 5-WEEK ILLNESS

Illness of five weeks ended in death Thursday at 7:20 p. m. for Amos B. Wilkerson, 88, at his home, 323 S. Pickaway street. Mr. Wilkerson was a lifelong resident of Washington township March 6, 1848 a son of Daniel and Elizabeth Anderson Wilkerson.

The funeral will be Monday at 2:30 p. m. in Calvary Evangelical church, the Revs. E. D. Paulin, S. S. Davis and L. C. Sherburne officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by the Albaugh Co. Pallbearers will include Russell Lape, Arthur Kibler, Robert Dean, Ross Carothers, Edward Bost, and Harold Sharp.

His wife, Emaline Peters, whom he married Aug. 28, 1873, preceded him in death. Two children, Mrs. Ross W. Taylor, of Columbus, and Miss Minnie Wilkerson, at home, survive.

BRACHER TO CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR'S POST

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—(UP)—Charles A. Bracher, Dayton, today obtained nominating petitions from the secretary of state and announced his candidacy for governor subject to action at the 1938 primaries.

Bracher said the chief plank of his platform would be repeal of the state liquor monopoly law.

Bracher is a former city commissioner of Dayton and was division chief of the income tax unit during the administrations of Presidents Harding and Coolidge. He twice has sought the Republican nomination of lieutenant governor.

PLANE WITHOUT TAIL, STRAIGHT WINGS IS BUILT IN THEFT PROBE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—The bureau of air commerce is building for experimental purposes a tailless, straight-wing plane which may solve several problems now facing the aviation industry, it was learned today.

While government experts made no promises of performance, they said pilots will put the plane through tests which may result in developing of:

1. Increased safety.
2. Greater speed in flight.
3. Lower landing speed.
4. Partial removal of the need for larger airports to accommodate huge transports.
5. Lower construction cost for commercial air liners.
6. Development of a low-cost "flyer" plane for private flying.

The plane is being constructed at New Philadelphia, Ohio, at a cost of about $15,000 and will be completed in about a month, air commerce officials said.

It is a development of the "flying wing" design and will be shaped like the wing of a modern transport plane with a "bulge" in the middle for passengers. It will be powered with a 125 horsepower engine of the "pusher" type, mounted at the rear. To make construction more economical, it is being made of wood, covered with fabric.

GYPSIES TAKEN TO ROSS COUNTY

Three gypsies, a man and two women, were arrested by the sheriff's department Thursday evening south of Williamsport for Ross county authorities.

Although local officers did not have full details of the case they understood the gypsies were wanted for an attempted robbery of an aged Ross county resident.

Those arrested gave their names as George Adams, 23, Cincinnati, and Rose Lee, 29, and Marie Stevens, 23, both of Columbus. Officers said the auto in which they were riding had Wisconsin license plates.

GREEN TO TELL HIS FOLLOWERS OF C. I. O. PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor meets in extraordinary session today to receive a complete report from its president, William Green, on his negotiations for peace with John L. Lewis, chairman of the Rival Committee for Industrial Organization.

Although Green has insisted that the council meeting was called only to discuss the wage-hour bill pending in congress, it was learned on excellent authority that he will present a complete review of negotiations with the C. I. O. to date.

Green will renew his personal conferences with Lewis at 8 o'clock tonight. It was indicated that then he may have some tentative allocation of jurisdictional lines to offer.

AGED MAN DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF PNEUMONIA

George Vinson, 81, who resided alone near Kinderhook, died at Berger hospital Thursday night, four hours after he was admitted for treatment of pneumonia.

The body was removed to the C. E. Hill funeral home, Williamsport. Arrangements for funeral services have not been completed.

Jury Probe To Result In Charges

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—(UP)—Indictment of several persons in connection with Ohio's parole and pardon scandal was predicted today by Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, who is conducting a special grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the state's parole system.

Testimony given before the grand jury has indicated that the Ohio parole situation "stinks to high Heaven," according to the attorney general.

Duffy also announced that the special grand jury scheduled to meet in Canton next Tuesday for the same purpose had been postponed temporarily.

The key witness in the inquiry here is Arch W. Naylor, accused of being a parole and pardon "broker". He testified for three hours Wednesday under promise of immunity from prosecution in Franklin county.

Naylor, admonished by his counsel to tell all he knows about the parole system truthfully, was expected to resume his testimony today. There was no morning session of the grand jury because of a death in the family of one of the jurors.

The Canton grand jury will be called later, Duffy said, to investigate parole activities of Naylor and others in Stark county.

The attorney general said that if future witnesses tell the grand jury what they already have told him, there will be several indictments in connection with "parole buying."

HITLER'S ENVOY, KAI CHEK TALK OF PEACE PLANS

HANKOW, China, Dec. 3—(UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Dr. Oscar Trautmann, German ambassador to China, are discussing possible terms for ending the Chinese-Japanese war, sources close to the German embassy asserted today.

Conversations between the Chinese dictator and the German envoy are proceeding at Kuling, the generalissimo's home near Nanking, the German sources said.

Trautmann was reported to be attempting to convince Chiang Kai-Shek to agree to Japanese peace conditions, including:

1. A semi-autonomous North China with a Chinese administration and Japanese advisers.
2. A large Japanese concession in Shanghai.
3. Revision of customs tariffs.

Authoritative sources here, the temporary Chinese capital, explained that these demands obviously were incomplete since they contained no reference to Chinese military establishments or the political composition of the Chinese government.

DAVEY PROPOSES INSURANCE LAW CHANGE IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—(UP)—Gov. Davey, in an open letter to Senate Majority Leader Keith Lawrence, today proposed an amendment to the unemployment insurance law in order to quiet fears of those who believe payment of benefits in 1938 instead of 1939 might adversely affect features of the law.

The governor pointed out that some employers were fearful that their credit rating might be injured if benefits began next year. He proposed a "simple amendment" calling for the credit rating to begin in 1939.

Hot words passed between marine and Japanese officers, and the Japanese immediately withdrew from that part of the United States defense sector of the international settlement which they had entered, and began giving up part of the adjoining area which they had seized.

It was the culmination of wild scenes involving nationals and troops of the United States and Great Britain that followed the suicide gesture of a Chinese patriot against Japanese troops engaged in a "victory parade" through the international settlement. The Chinese threw a hand grenade at the parading Japanese, paid for it with his life a few seconds later, but touched off occurrences that for a time threatened.

BABY BOUNTIES URGED TO BRING U. S. PROSPERITY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—Bumper farm crops plus bounties for babies to consume them equals elimination of farm surpluses and prosperity for all.

That was the formula suggested to senators today as a solution of the farm problem.

In a neatly mimeographed communication to Sen. James F. Pope, D., Ida., co-author of the senate farm bill, Ruth Hall Chatfield of Baldwin, N. Y., proposed that the government pay a $500 "infant subsidy" to married American citizens.

If the family is large and needy, she said, the subsidy should be increased to $1,000.

"God gave us the soil to produce," the letter said. "Controlling production with the people's money means reducing jobs, buying power, and making all too poor to have the future citizen."

"One can hardly conceive of anyone not benefiting from this worthy productive cause (bounties for babies) which will provide proper distribution of wealth in rural, urban, suburban and heavily populated areas."

The author claimed that her bounty plan would "bring America a healthy and perpetual prosperity; the world, peace; and industry, a chance to absorb unemployed."

GOVERNOR MAY NOT BACK BILL HANDLING MILK

Administration To Open Way For Proposals From Any Members of Assembly

PRICE REGULATION HIT

Coshocton Man Suggests Three-Member Board

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3 — (UP) — The administration has abandoned any plans to present its own milk control bill to the special session and, instead, will throw the session open to any measures dealing with this subject that individual members wish to introduce, it was learned today.

A source close to the governor said this method was decided upon in order to encourage consideration of a variety of bills to avoid the appearance of restricting the session to any particular type of milk legislation.

It was understood the governor's message opening the session to consideration of milk legislation would be sent to the legislature when it reconvenes next week.

Opposition Certain

Leaders in both houses frankly admitted legislation of this kind would face strong opposition from all quarters, principally because of the present "revolt" against discussion of anything but "vital" measures.

A United Press pre-session poll forecast stiff opposition particularly against any measure which tended to regulate prices.

Several house members reported they had received drafts of proposed milk bills.

One of these bills, received by Rep. J. Harry McGregor, R., Coshocton, proposed establishment of a three-member commission serving for terms of three years each at salaries of $4,500 annually.

The commission would be "co-ordinated" with the State Department of Agriculture. It would be empowered to regulate the "manufacture, storage, transportation, processing, distribution, delivery and sale of milk and milk products."

In a declaration of policy, the bill declares that "unfair, unjust, destructive, deceitful and demoralizing trade practices" endanger the public's health and the state's credit structure.

The present practice of producing and marketing, the measure states, has failed to prevent a disparity between prices received by the producers and paid by the distributors.

Areas Provided

The commission would be empowered to set up milk marketing areas in which minimum and maximum prices and fair trade practices would be established.

Areas in which "fair" prices already prevail could be exempted from provisions of the proposed law by the commission.

The commission would pass rules and regulations after public hearings. The attorney general would act as legal counsel for the body and witnesses and records could be subpoenaed.

Dealers, distributors, producers, producer-distributors and others affected by the proposed law would be required to obtain license within 30 days after its enactment. The commission would be empowered to refuse to grant licenses for conduct or practices regarded as detrimental or unlawful.

The bill also provides for the setting up of local voluntary milk committees whose function would be chiefly assisting the commission with pertinent information.

In cases where milk prices were below those fixed by the commission, a "compliance tax" could be levied in order to make up the difference in price.

Fines for non-compliance with the law ranging from $25 to $300 for the first offense and $500 to $1000 for the third offense would be levied. These fines would be distinct from the compliance tax, however, and would be imposed for violation of regulations.

The bill appropriates $50,000 for administration.

sider the ordinance. If he signs it or fails to take any action, it becomes effective in 30 days. A veto would send it back to council.

Gordon said the group present not only favored the referendum, but agreed to assist in the expense involved in the proposition.

Another Fight Pending

At the present time a 10-year contract for residence and commercial lighting is pending in Common Pleas courts. Council passed the ordinance, it was signed by the mayor, and a referendum petition followed.

The new street-lighting contract includes the installation of 60 boulevard lights in the downtown district and revamping of the lighting system in other parts of the city. The annual cost of the present system is $7,030.50 while that of the new one would be $7,914.20.

The ordinance for the contract was passed in a series of special meetings. Present councilmen desired to have the legislation completed so it would be effective before new councilmen took office.

Included in the discussion in addition to the 1938 council were L. T. Shaner, Elmer Merriman, Walter Hulse, Charles Miller and John Courtwright.

Japanese troops immediately seized complete control of the area in which the incident occurred—an area defended by White Russian volunteers of the Shanghai defense corps. They aimed pistols at U. S. Marines and British soldiers, pushed foreigners about with rifle butts, set up machine guns.

Methodically they extended this seized area until it had passed far enough up Bubbling Well road to enter the U. S. marine defense area. The grenade had been thrown at noon; by then it was approaching dusk.

Colonel Charles Price, commander of the Fourth Marine regiment, accompanied by Captain Ronald Boone, drove up to the Japanese line. Sentries, poised bayoneted rifles, halted them. Both got out and demanded to see the commanding officer. The sentry officer refused to call him. There were hot words.

Demand Refused

The sentry officer finally complied but when the American officers demanded to be escorted to the commander, he refused flatly. Boone and his adversary exchanged more heated compliments and the escort was provided. A half hour later they returned, and Japanese officers began giving the command to withdraw.

What passed between the marines and the Japanese commanders was not known, but Price was heard to exclaim: "You are practically invading the United States defense sector. You must withdraw immediately."

The Japanese troops were definitely within the American defense zone when the marine commander took action. They had seized an area that included the foreign Y. M. C. A., the Park hotel, and an apartment house beyond the Park road and all within the sector.

The strong stand apparently turned the tide. As night began the Japanese had contracted their lines in the adjoining sector of the white Russian volunteers, until they extended from Yuyaching road west to the Tientsin road north to Shansi road east to the Kuikiang road and south to Yuyaching road.

A spokesman for the Japanese embassy announced that this cordoned would be withdrawn as soon as a joint investigation of the grenade throwing by the Japanese army and the Shanghai municipal council, an international body, had been completed.

"The Japanese authorities have no intention of taking undue advantage of the incident," he said. The situation had grown progressively more dangerous during the wild afternoon, and a clash of Japanese and foreign troops or a clash of Japanese soldiers and foreign civilians, with unpredictable repercussions, seemed unavoidable.

MART ADVANCES TWO POINTS IN EARLY TRADING

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 — (UP) — Stocks advanced fractions to more than 2 points in moderately active trading today. At one time buying was sufficiently active to cause tickers to lag. The market opened quiet and was dull again in the early afternoon.

Best gains were in leading issues. All sections participated. There was nothing in the news to account for the sudden demand which was ascribed to technical causes.

Two of them dispatch riders on motorcycles — were threatened with drawn pistols by Japanese officers. Two truck-loads of British soldiers were similarly treated. In one truck was the British military attaché. A number of foreign civilians were pushed about roughly with rifle butts, and an American and a Briton were beaten.

One of the marine dispatch riders ignored the Japanese officer's command to turn back, and sped his machine through the Japanese cordon. The officer had his pistol trained, but did not fire.

The Shanghai municipal council ordered coolies to begin erecting barbed wire defenses around the settlement, an obvious warning that they expected the Japanese to seize it. British troops reinforced the British defense zone.

But these alarming symptoms were mollified as night came and the Japanese contracted their lines.

A Chinese fired a rifle from a building, and a few seconds later, on the tower of the British and American Tobacco company building, another Chinese shouted "long live the Kuomintang" and hurled himself to death in the street below.

Immediately after the grenade was thrown, T. E. Maitland, a British lawyer, was beaten by Japanese civilians and arrested by the Japanese soldiers. It was said that he had seized a Rising Sun flag from one of the civilians and stomped on it. Maitland later was released.

An American, "Pop" Murphy, former member of the navy, was beaten by Japanese soldiers.

Both Maitland and Murphy were said to have fought back when hit.

After the Japanese had withdrawn from the U. S. defense sector, the marines issued this official communique:

"It appeared that the Japanese were unaware of the exact location of the American defense boundaries and their encroachment was inadvertent and not deliberate. When informed by Colonel Price and Captain Boone, the Japanese removed back east of the Yuyaching road and removed the barbed wire and opened the tied up traffic into the American sector."

BLOCS MENACE FARM MEASURE

Texas, of the house agriculture committee, predicted that "something would be worked out" to modify the effect of the dairy amendment which opponents said would impair the operation of the entire soil conservation program.

The dairy amendment, offered by Rep. Gerald J. Boileau, Prog. Wis., would withhold soil conservation benefits from grasses and legumes grown for livestock feeding.

Voting on the amendments to the senate bill was delayed yesterday by a controversy over a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace in which several sections of the measure were attacked.

Senator James D. Pope, D. Ida., co-author of the bill, said the secretary's proposals for a larger carry-over supply of wheat was provided in the original measure, but was reduced in committee.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO INCLUDE 300 COUNTY PUPILS

McDowell Discloses Program To Be Presented Dec. 9 At Ashville

DIRECTORS ARE BUSY

Selections Prepared For Annual Function

Program for the county music festival to be held in the Ashville school on Thursday, Dec. 9, at 8:15 p. m., was announced Friday by George McDowell, superintendent of county schools. More than 300 pupils will participate.

The orchestral division, under the direction of Miss Mary Tolbert, music instructor of Walnut township school will play the following selections: "Marchioness," by Gluck; "Tambourin," by Rameau; "Intermezzo," by Bizet, and the "Hunting Song," by Lazarus.

Vocal selections to be given by the county chorus, under the direction of Miss Helen G. Betts, music instructor of the New Holland and Deer Creek township schools, will be: "Angels We Have Heard on High," an old French carol; "Song of Hope," Hebrew melody harmonized by Asa T. Hunt; "To Shorten Winter's Sadness," by Dykema; "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," by Stephen C. Foster, and "Glorious Now to Thee Be Given," by Bach. Miss Ollie Ater, music instructor of Perry township school, will be the accompanist.

Edward Morrison, instrumental instructor, Pickaway township school, will direct the county band. Selections will include: "Jolly Coppersmith," by Peter-Lake; "Amaryllis," H. Ghys, arranged by Franz Mahl, and "Men of Ohio," by Fillmore.

There will be 77 county pupils in the orchestra, 83 in the band and 158 in the chorus.

ANOTHER CHECK CHARGE ON FILE AGAINST TESTER

Another bad check charge was placed against George Tester, 37, of Williamsport, in Circleville police court, Thursday. Tester is being held for the grand jury. A charge of forgery was filed by Ben H. Gordon on a $12 check given to him last September. The check was signed with the name of R. E. Dunlap. Tester admitted the charge, the mayor said, and was returned to jail. His bond was fixed at $500.

WORKERS: Your campaign to sell Christmas seals is under way, and I have high hopes that your goal will be reached. The little seals that do so much to win the fight against tuberculosis should be attached on Christmas cards and on other mail. Several civic organizations have purchased the seals, which carry the picture of the Town Crier and the health cross, and many others could follow the same plan. As is voiced in the publicity issued by the Pickaway County Health League: "Life Begins at 40" but tuberculosis begins at any age! No one is safe from tuberculosis, babies, growing children, adults, families, and whole communities, even you and yours, need protection. By your purchase of these seals at one cent each you will help to supply this necessary protection. Will you do your part and buy them?

RESIDENTS: City firemen have made numerous appeals to citizens to bring in old toys to be repaired for distribution to needy children on Christmas. So far their appeals have had poor results. Very few toys have been received. Firemen want the toys as early as possible. Some of the discarded toys require a lot of work before they are in condition suitable for Santa Claus. Firemen make every effort to see that no child is overlooked. Unless they receive more co-operation this year they fear there will not be sufficient toys to make the rounds.

World At A Glance

Each succeeding dispatch from the Orient brings worse news than the last one.

I mean worse news for Occidental countries with interests there. The news is bad for the Chinese, too, but it has been bad for them all along. Now it hints that the Japanese are precipitating a situation which will affect Occidental nations seriously.

JAPAN'S NEXT STEP

It is all very well for America's peace advocates, for example, to argue that a war between two foreign powers, or among several of them, is none of Uncle Sam's business; that Uncle Sam's proper policy is to remain neutral.

I myself feel that way about it. I sympathize with China against the mikado. I believe most of us do. Nevertheless, I agree that it is not our fight—as between Tokio and Nanking.

AMERICAN TERRITORY

Shanghai is a very big city. Part of its area is purely Chinese. The Japanese, having conquered that Chinese section, perhaps are entitled to it.

However, the foreign settlement is the essential part of the place. And the foreign settlement, by treaty right, belongs to the Occidental nations. Uncle Sam has only a partnership right in it, but, so far as that right goes, foreign Shanghai is as much American soil as the corner of Broadway and Forty-second street.

For whatever you may do, as an American, within that settlement, you are answerable only to your American local consul court—not to any Chinese, Japanese or other authority. You are in the U. S. A. to all intents and purposes. You have your own American post-office; your own American station to file transpacific cables. You are as free as a bird, subject to Yankee regulation.

Ditto other Occidental nationals. JAPAN SUPREME?

Japan proposes to put a stop to this.

It proposes a Japanese censorship on American mails and cables. Japanese officialdom, it specifies, is to run the international settlement—the whole thing; not Chinese Shanghai only.

The mikado wants charge of the settlement's courts also.

Let international law "go hang" on such a basis.

CUSTOMS' SEIZURE, TOO

China has many international financial obligations (debts et cetera) to Occidental countries. These settlements have been effected through the Shanghai custom house, Shanghai being China's chief port of entry. Foreign collectors have held jobs at the custom house to attend to their various nation's collections, which have been met punctually.

The custom house is in the international settlement Japan has grabbed the custom house and is scooping in returns, regardless of the rights of other claimants.

It is not a mere threat. It is a confiscation of Occidental money.

WHERE IT HURTS

Japan does progress into Chinese territory—from Shanghai to Soochow, from Soochow to Nanking.

That does not so much matter to the remainder of the world. But to have an important bit of territory taken away from Occidental countries?—to have their pockets picked of custom house receipts?—to have their mails and cables censored?—to have their citizens subjected to Japanese whimsies?

PEACOCK FEATHERS

By Temple Bailey

COPYRIGHT, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Jerry Chandler, son of a country clergyman in modest circumstances, has asked Mimi Le Brun, a St. Louis society girl, to marry him. She is virtually engaged to Andy Fuller, a wealthy young man who has married Mimi through her cousin, Lionel Clark, his closest friend at Yale. An uncle sent Jerry through college and led him to believe that eventually he would inherit his ranch in the west. Jerry goes to take Mimi to the ranch and write plays. He is called home from a nuptial party in Maine just before his mother's death. Jerry goes to St. Louis to pursue Mimi. He learns that Mimi's mother is opposed to him because he has neither background nor money. Jerry goes to the home of Olga, the young woman who married Mimi's wealthy grandfather shortly before his death.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 22

BEHIND ME, as I gazed upon the peacock portrait, Olga was saying, "They think I ought to give that to Mimi. But I shan't."

"Why not?"

She blazed. "Oh, if they had treated me fairly. But from the very first they acted as if the whole thing was my fault. I didn't know that my husband had left them out—not until the will was read. I supposed that of course he had looked after them. But they won't believe it. They think I got around him, and influenced him against them. And it has made me obstinate. I'm that kind. The picture is mine and I shall keep it."

She had worked herself into a sort of dull fury. "I shall keep it," she said, and led the way back to the drawing room.

The Ammidon twins and their satellites had arrived, and after them came, shortly, all the others I had met in the Maine woods. Yet I was aware of an atmosphere of animosity of which I had not been conscious in the Maine cottage. They had accepted Olga's invitation, but here in the Senator's old house she was not one of them as she had been in less formal surroundings. And superadded to this was a sense of Andy's antagonism which he did not attempt to disguise.

It showed itself in a dozen ways—in his utter disregard of the fact of my presence. He gave me no greeting when he entered, and at the evening went on, throughout dinner, although he was directly across the table from me, he did not address a word to me.

Everybody else was more than kind. They had made delightful plans for me. They vied me to make engagements for every minute of my week ahead. I demanded only one thing: that my mornings must be my own.

It was that night, I think, I began to feel the pull of a pleasure-filled sentence. The contrast was, perhaps, all the greater because of my recent sojourn in the midst of sorrow and of heart-break. I was glad to put these things behind me. I told myself to forget my mother, but I wanted to forget my pain and tragedy and poverty. When we entered the ballroom the feeling was intensified—it was a wonderful place with its side-walls hung in rose brocade, and its ceiling painted with rose garlands upheld by cupids. Crystal chandeliers hung low over our heads giving out a thousand lovely lights from their pendant prisms. To me it was fairyland. All the dreams of my boyhood could not match this moment.

Mimi, to my great delight, gave me the first dance. Andy glowered, but I was the guest of honor. "And he's been as cross as a bear," Mimi told me.

"Even Andy can't spoil my evening," I told her. "Nothing can spoil it. It's Elysium—and you and I are going to dance on—forever—"

Her light, low laughter answered. "You've got to stop it," he said without preamble.

"Stop what?"

"Hanging around Mimi."

"That is for Mimi to say."

"Oh, she won't stop you. She knows how to play the game."

I was possessed by a fury which made me want to crack his head open. "Are you talking of the woman you love?"

"You know whom I am talking about. Mimi isn't any angel. But she's mine. I won't have anyone else butting in."

"How are you going to stop me?"

I think he hadn't expected that. He had, I am sure, thought of me as a country boy without a code. But I had a code, and I had the strength (with which to back it answered. "Oh, is there anyone like you, Jerry? Everything with you is a great adventure."

It was a lovely, impulsive gesture.

Did anything matter after that?

There were other dances with her, and my rapture increased, so that when the evening was far advanced, and she was dancing with Lionel, I wandered away from the others, and made my way to the balcony where I could be alone and feast my eyes on the picture. Now and then some couple drifted out of the ballroom and drifted back again, and looking down upon them I felt that it was all like the scene of a play, with the beat of the music coming faintly off-stage.

Then, suddenly, Mimi drifted in with Lionel—a slender slip of a thing in silver with a floating scarf of burnished blue. They were both graceful dancers—and the thing was exquisite—the great ballroom beyond as a background—these two slight figures seeming to float over the polished floor.

Mimi lifted her eyes and saw me—and behind Lionel's back she blew me a kiss from the tips of her fingers—a lovely, impulsive gesture—then they drifted back to the ballroom.

As I stood there mad with the joy of it, a hand came down on my shoulder. I turned and faced Andy!

"You've got to stop it," he said without preamble.

"Stop what?"

"Hanging around Mimi."

"That is for Mimi to say."

"Oh, she won't stop you. She knows how to play the game."

I was possessed by a fury which made me want to crack his head open.

"Are you talking of the woman you love?"

"You know whom I am talking about. Mimi isn't any angel. But she's mine. I won't have anyone else butting in."

"How are you going to stop me?"

I think he hadn't expected that. He had, I am sure, thought of me as a country boy without a code. But I had a code, and I had the strength (with which to back it

Not for nothing had I spent years in the open and on those hard physical tasks of the farm. I was more than his match and I knew it.

So I said, "How are you going to stop it?"

He came a step nearer. "I give you fair warning. You're not her kind. You've unlimited nerve to think she'd look at you. She wouldn't if she wasn't trying to make me jealous."

I was on my feet now. I spoke quietly, but there was the force of a blow behind each word.

"If you speak like that again of Mimi, I'll throw you over this balcony."

He saw that I meant it. Knew the depth of the fall to that shining floor beneath. Hesitated.

"Oh, I'm not here to fight," he blustered.

"It won't be a fight. I shall drop you into the middle of next week."

How queer the old slang sounds now as I write it. But I did not then stop to think of words. "I'm a thousand times stronger than you are," I said, "you wouldn't have a chance with me. If you don't believe it, get Lionel to tell you my record at college."

Oh, I was a fine young cockerel! If I had done what I threatened, I should probably have been locked up before midnight for manslaughter!

But he saved me from that. "This isn't the time," he said, "to settle it. But there'll be a time. So it is hands off of Mimi if you are sensible."

He flung himself down the steps and I saw him making his way towards the ballroom.

His next dance was with Mimi, and I don't know what he said to her. But when she said "Good-night," she asked, "What have you done to Andy? He's got it in for you."

I was tempted to tell her of the things we had said to each other. But I could not spoil the moment.

"Oh, he'll get over it," I said, lightly. "And why should I care for Andy, when I am to see you tomorrow?"

Cure for World's Ills Told by H. G. Wells

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MR. H. G. WELLS has been touring the United States and Canada, delivering lectures on the dire state of our present civilization and offering a remedy.

Dr. Clendening

We all recognize the symptoms which endanger civilization with the increase of unemployment, the lack of business stability, danger of war and lack of responsibility for public affairs among private individuals. How it is going to work out nobody knows, and Mr. Wells seems to think there is quite a possibility that it won't work out at all, and that human civilization will disappear. He thinks that while we have improved enormously in mechanical devices, means of transportation and communication, the brain organization of the modern world has not been organized to deal with the new problems which these machines impose.

Personally, I am not so sure that this is possible. From what I know of human nature, mankind is a mechanical, not a mental animal, who will find his salvation in mechanical ways, and that the average population, even in times of war, will find means of subsistence somehow, and carry on some semblance of our modern civilization to hand on to the next generation. It will be pretty hard to eradicate the human race. We even find it impossible to eradicate mosquitoes and typhoid germs.

Mr. Wells' solution is to have an encyclopedia drawn up by the best minds of the world, and have everyone learn the facts about the universe. It seems strange that a man of Mr. Wells' historical outlook would not realize that we have had encyclopedias from the very earliest days of printing, and before. Each of these contained a chapter on medicine, and for that reason I have been interested in them, because some of the early discoveries in medicine were written in these books. The "Margherita Philosophia" was one of these, which was probably in Shakespeare's library. The medieval schoolmen, such as Albertus Magnus, were constantly writing encyclopedias, and they were widely distributed.

One of the most interesting of the encyclopedias was Roger Bacon, that greatest "apparition of the Middle Ages", and in one part of his encyclopedic books he carefully concealed in a cipher the invention by which he is best known today. In this book the first eight chapters were written in clear and readable Latin, but the following chapters, according to an eminent encyclopedia, read like so much gibberish.

The fact is that Bacon had devised what is called the "Argyle Cipher", which consists of a clever way of hiding sentences that are important under a lot of high sounding phrases and words. Allegedly he was discussing the Ellixir of Life and the Philosopher's Stone, and actually he described salt peter and the making of gunpowder, and he puts the most important sentence, which related to the proportions of the explosive mixture, in an anagram which successfully withstood translation for almost 700 years. Is it not too bad that this encyclopedia's secret was ever rediscovered?

Apropos of cures of the world's ills, we are reminded of what Prof. E. A. Ross once remarked, "The real enemy of the dove of peace is not the eagle of pride or the vulture of greed, but the stork."

Poems That Live

THE EVENING CLOUD

A cloud lay cradled near the setting sun,

A gleam of crimson tinged its braided snow;

Long had I watched the glory moving on

O'er the still radiance of the lake below.

Tranquil its spirit seemed, and floated slow!

Even in its very motion there was rest;

While every breath of eve that chanced to blow

Wafted the traveler to the beautiful west.

Emblem, methought, of the departed soul!

To whose white robe the gleam of bliss is given,

And by the breath of mercy made to roll

Right onwards to the golden gates of heaven,

Where to the eye of faith it peaceful lies,

And tells to man his glorious destinies.

50 Williamsport Women Gather at Hunsicker's

Society of Village Church Enjoys Afternoon

More than 50 were present Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker opened her home and extended hospitality to the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church of Williamsport.

The guests included the members of the society and many Circleville friends of Mrs. Hunsicker. Mrs. John Dunlap, Sr., read the chapter of the year's study book, and Mrs. Hunsicker told a Christmas legend. During the afternoon Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. James Moffitt sang Christmas Carols, accompanied at the piano by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke. During the social hour the group gathered around the tea table in the dining room. The room was softly lighted with the glow of many green and red candles, and the tea table presented an attractive picture, centered with a modern centerpiece comprised of an antique dish of small assorted gourd and surrounded with pine cones in natural color. Tall burning tapers stood at the ends of the table.

Mrs. Tom Gephart, first vice president of the society, presided.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by the officers and group leaders, including Mrs. Edward Rector, Mrs. Lee Luellen, Mrs. C. E. Hill, Mrs. Katie West, Mrs. George Hammon, Sr., Mrs. Russell Wardell, Mrs. Harry Dunlap, Mrs. John Dunlap, Sr., Mrs. Emma Wiggins, Mrs. Fred Tipton, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker and Mrs. John Smith.

Methodist Church Day

In keeping with the approaching holiday season, the Methodist Episcopal Church Day was opened by the Women's Foreign Missionary society with a program based on Christmas.

The society convened at 10 o'clock and the hymn "Joy to the World" was used for the opening number. Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, president, was in charge of the devotional and business hour. Mrs. W. C. Baum offered prayer.

An interesting letter from the hospital in China, which the society helps support, was read by Mrs. Gerhardt. A letter received recently from Miss Alice Finley, a missionary in Japan, was read by Miss Letha Beavers. A duet of Christmas carols was sung by Mrs. John Bragg and Mrs. Mack Noggle.

Mrs. W. T. Ulm reviewed the chapter from the year's study book. The annual Christmas offering was received. A poem, "On Earth, Peace" was read by Mrs. Gerhardt. The program was planned under the direction of Mrs. Noggle.

Many visitors in addition to the society members partook of the splendid lunch served at noon by the second division of the Ladies' Aid society under the direction of Mrs. G. H. Adkins. The regular business session of the Aid society was called to order by Mrs. Harold Grant at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. F. E. Barnhill, president, in the chair. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Robert Denman and the theme was "Peace, a Gift and an Attainment."

During the business session plans were made to send the annual Christmas box to the Ethel Harper home, Cedartown, Ga. Mrs. J. P. Rankin and Miss Estelle Grimes had charge of the "Spiritual Life" ritual. Mrs. Ulm, program leader then presented Mrs. C. C. Watts, who gave a fine report of the meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society Ohio conference held in Dayton, Nov. 4 and 5. Mrs. Watts is corresponding secretary for the Chillicothe district. Miss Betty Sayre played two delightful piano solos, "Mazurka" and "Nocturne." A beautiful story, "Finding Christmas" was told by Mrs. Ulm. Mrs. Leon Van Vleet and Miss Wanda Seymour played two Christmas hymns, "Holy Night" and "Joy to the World," as an instrumental duet with piano and bells. All of the society meetings were well attended and much interest was expressed in the programs prepared.

Stoer Reunion

The third annual Stoer reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Caudy, near Five Points, recently. There were two guests of honor, Mrs. J. Justus and Mrs. Frank Jenkins, of Columbus.

A business meeting was held after dinner. Since no pictures were taken this year, it was voted that each family give one photo for the album. The officers, Mrs. Myrl Lewis, president, Mrs. Loring Stoer, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Virgil Caudy, historian, will remain in office for another year. There have been no births or deaths reported the last year. Two marriages occurred in the family. It was decided that the hostess set the date for the reunion and plan the menu.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leland Frederick and chil-

JUST WHAT I'VE ALWAYS WANTED

Take time to learn Mother's secret thoughts about a Christmas gift. Chances are that they will be "A Hotpoint Electric Range! Miracle Cooking in my own kitchen!"

Certainly you will give Mother some personal trinket. But she also expects—and you'll want to give—something more substantial, more permanent, something that will save her time and effort every single day in the years to come.

And this year what could be more fitting than a Hotpoint Electric Range. It's what every up-to-date American woman is thinking about. It will save Mother 1 hour of every 3 she now spends in the kitchen—every day in the year.

Prices are low. Terms are easy. For no more cash as a down payment, than you would spend on some gewgaw, you can have a modern Hotpoint Electric Range delivered for Christmas.

FAYETTE JURY TOLD STORY OF MAN'S MURDER

Everett Jones, of Springfield, Admits Killing Jeffersonville Poolroom Operator

FIRECRACKER BLAMED

Detectives Testify About Alleged Confession

WASHINGTON, C. H., Dec. 3.—Taking the stand in his own defense late Thursday afternoon after the state had rested its case in the first-degree murder trial, Everett Jones, 33 years old, Springfield, Ohio, told in dramatic manner of killing Robert W. Lindsey, Jeffersonville, poolroom proprietor, in his place of business the night of July 4.

Jones, corroborating nearly everything told by his accomplice, Walter Barnes, 18, also of Springfield, admitted entering the Lindsey poolroom to hold up the place. He testified that he fired two shots at Lindsey while the latter was raising his gun toward Jones.

"I warned him three times not to pick up the pistol which he was reaching for, and pleaded with him not to pick it up. After he did get the gun and pointed it toward me, I said to him 'let's arbitrate,' and started backing toward the door," he continued.

"The man kept smiling as he turned the gun toward me, but did not say a word. He never spoke a word all of the time. "Suddenly a firecracker exploded outside and I thought the man had fired. I fired involuntarily, and then fired a second shot, hardly realizing what I was doing. Mr. Lindsey slumped to the floor and I hurried out to the car where Barnes was waiting," Jones testified.

"I did not want to kill him, and never had any intention of doing so," declared Jones, who a short time later admitted spending 18 years of his life in prison.

The climax of the trial came after the state had offered a series of witnesses, including two Cleveland detectives, who said Jones had told them that he had shot Lindsey after warning him three times.

The cross-examination of Jones was not completed when court adjourned.

RAIL OFFICIALS PROBE REMOVAL OF BOX PACKING

Two Pennsylvania railroad detectives are conducting an investigation in Circleville to stop the removal of packing from journal boxes on freight cars.

The detectives said that in the last two weeks packing was removed from twelve boxes. Removal of the packing is a serious offense. When the journal overheats, smoke from the packing warns the conductor of the overheated box. Removal of the packing causes numerous accidents. Cars stripped of packing here were caught before any damage resulted.

The officers expect to be in Circleville for three or four days.

MINCH ASKS DIVORCE

C. T. Minch, Five Points, filed suit in Common Pleas court Thursday against Helen Francis Minch, of Columbus, charging neglect of duty. The petition charges the defendant has been away from the home for the last three years. They were married Sept. 20, 1928 and have no children.

"Devout" Prisoners Escape. GREELEY, Colo. (UP)—Two inmates of the city jail here escaped with a group that had conducted services in the cell block. The prisoners chatted with the group as they filed out and were not noticed. Church services in the cell block were banned.

TEMPTING MENUS

Bake Fruit Cake Now

Any fruit cake is rich but we have had a number of requests for the black fruit cake that must be baked a long time ahead of the holiday season for thorough mellowing.

Here is the richest recipe we know:

Royal Fruit Cake

- 1 lb. butter
- 1 lb. brown sugar
- 9 eggs
- 3/4 C. brandy
- 3/4 C. rum syrup (or honey)
- 1 lb. flour
- 3 lbs. raisins
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 tsp. mace
- 1/2 tsp. allspice
- 1/2 tsp. cloves
- Salt
- 2 lbs. seeded raisins
- 1 lb. currants
- 1/2 lb. pecans
- 1/2 lb. candied lemon peel
- 1/2 lb. candied orange peel
- 1/2 lb. citron
- 1/2 lb. candied cherries

Cream butter and sugar, beating well. Beat nine eggs and add to creamed butter and sugar, beating until of a fluffy consistency. Add brandy and honey or rum syrup. Mix the flour with the soda, spices, fruits and nuts. Add the flour mixture to the first and pour into tins which have been buttered and floured. Bake in a slow oven (250 degrees) for four hours. This recipe makes one cake weighing about 2 1/2 lbs.

Light Fruit Cake

Much less expensive than our recipe above for the large dark cake, this one will be a favorite for small families:

- 3 C. cake flour
- 4 tsp. tartare baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 C. butter
- 1 1/2 C. sugar
- 1 tsp. extract
- 3 Tbsp. cut, mixed peel
- 1 C. seedless raisins, cut
- 1/2 C. nuts, broken
- 1 C. milk
- 3 egg whites

Sift flour once, measure and sift 3 times with baking powder and salt. Cream butter well, add sugar gradually and continue creaming until mixture is light and fluffy. Add mixed peel, raisins, and nuts, and mix well. Add extract to milk. Add dry ingredients to butter mixture alternately with milk mixture until they flow very slowly when bowl is partially inverted. Fold beaten egg whites into mixture. Pour batter into an 8-inch tube pan which has been lined with wax paper. Bake at 325 degrees about 1 hour and 40 minutes.

Remove cake from oven and allow it to stand a few minutes before removing it from pan. Allow to cool on a cake cooler and store in a tightly covered box. Makes 2 1/4 lb. cake.

RED CROSS DRIVE MAY PASS QUOTA OF $900

With approximately one-third of the reports submitted on the annual Red Cross drive, Ray Davis, roll call chairman, believes the drive will total about $1,000. The goal was $900. So far about $500 has been reported.

Capital U. to Honor Its President, Dec. 13 to 17

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3.—Twenty-five years of service as president of Capital University will be commemorated when Dr. Otto Mees is feted in a series of celebrations beginning Dec. 13. Alumni of Capital and friends of President Mees will come from throughout Ohio and the mid-west for the occasion.

In December, 1912, Dr. Mees took over the reins as Capital's president, and since that time Capital University has made remarkable progress. At the beginning of his presidency there were only 200 men students. Today the total enrollment of all departments of the university numbers well over 1300. The university has been co-educational since 1923. Twelve modern equipped buildings have replaced the three structures over which Dr. Mees first presided. A faculty numbering over 70 members now teaches in the liberal arts college, and the music conservatory with a faculty of 30 has gained national prominence since its establishment 10 years ago.

Honored by Many

Dr. Mees is an accomplished man. He is a preacher, scholar, author, lecturer, and musician. The late Billy Ireland of the Columbus Dispatch characterized President Mees as a "builder of character and a mold of men." Dr.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU.

BY BOB BURNS

It's a funny thing to me that when we need the advice of a doctor or a lawyer, we think nothing of calling in the highest authority and paying fancy prices for it, and yet when we're puzzled by some perplexity of life, we try to figure it out ourselves instead of going to the best authority. If we would just ask some old person, who has been through the mill, they would straighten us out in a minute and it wouldn't cost us a cent.

When my Cousin Lobelia's fella come to call on her one night, he met Grandpa Snazzy comin' out of Lobelia's house. Grandpa says "Young fella, you look nervous—what's the matter?" The young fella says "Why, I'm gonna propose to Lobelia tonight and I'll bet she'll be surprised to death." Grandpa says "Well, she gave her little brother a dime to go to bed at 6:30—she hung four cupid pictures on the Parlor wall—she moved the sofa to the darkest corner of the room—she got her Paw and Maw to go callin' next door—she put the dog in the celler and right now she's sittin' at the piano, practicin' 'Because I Love You'."

C. V. Sheatsley, an Ohio historian, recently named Dr. Mees "Capital's Progressive President." He is a forceful orator whose messages leave an indelible impression. His hearers frequently refer to him as "the little man with the dynamic personality."

The coming commemorative celebrations have been authorized by the Capital board of trustees. On Monday, Dec. 13, a huge mass meeting will be held. Dr. Ralph Long of New York City has been secured to deliver the main address while many Ohio personages will be on hand to offer their congratulations.

The entire week of Dec. 13-17 will be replete with ceremonies in Dr. Mees' honor. The final event will be a faculty banquet and reception on Friday night, Dec. 13.

TWO WOMEN GO TO JAIL AFTER COURT HEARINGS

Two of the three women arrested by police Wednesday night on charges of fighting were sent to the county jail Thursday by Mayor W. J. Graham when they failed to pay fines of $10 and costs each.

COUNTY RECEIVES $69,639.28 FROM 8,014 VEHICLES

Pickaway county and its various corporations received $69,639.28 from the registration of 8,014 motor vehicles. The fund was gathered from license tags, drivers' licenses and other similar sources.

The report shows the county received $60,854.18, while distributions to the various corporations were: Ashville $1,183.44, Circleville $6,120.03, Commercial Point $259.39, Darbyville $72.65, Harrisburg 41 cents, New Holland $497.35, South Bloomfield $16.27, Tarlton $138.32 and Williamsport $497.24.

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW DAIRY BUILDING DELAYED

Formal opening of the new building of the Pickaway Dairy Assn., W. Main street, will not be held for several weeks.

Although moving of equipment from the old creamery on W. Water street to the new building has been practically completed employes said it would be several weeks before all installation work connected with the transfer is completed. The old creamery has been closed and business is being handled at the new plant.

The new dairy building is one of the most modern of its size in the state.

CAPITAL AWARDS LETTERS TO MEN ON GRID ELEVEN

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3—Kenneth Heisler, Willard, and Harry Campbell, Valencia, Pa., were given all-conference recognition, and eighteen Capital university football players were awarded varsity letters as laurels distributed for wearing the Purple of Capital in intercollegiate football this last season.

The placing of Heisler and Campbell on the first all-Ohio conference eleven was a signal honor inasmuch as more than 22 Ohio college football teams were considered and Capital won only one-half the games on an eight game schedule. Heisler, a triple threat half-back, and Campbell, a thundering line-man, were, however, nearly universally picked by coaches, officials, and sports writers who selected the mythical honorary elevens for both the Associated Press and the United Press.

Of the eighteen players who were awarded the varsity "C," seven are seniors, including: Ken Heisler, Willard; Earl Brenning, Bexley; Richard Thayer, Gallon; Oakley Turner, Atlanta, O.; Leeland Adams, Johnston; Hugo Wenzel, Canton; and Harry Fisher, Bakerstown, Pa. The other letter winners will be available for grid duty next year: Harold Roth, Upper Sandusky; Charles Heilman, Bellevue; Edgar Gochenour, Grove City; Don Burkey, Groveport; Charles Townley, Grove City; George Freeman, Columbus; Harry Campbell, Valencia, Pa.; Roy Stout, Columbus; Edgar Long, New York City; Carl Blumenschohn, Youngstown; Paul Wenzel, Canton; and Carl Munzelle, Columbus.

TIGERS OBTAIN KENNEDY, PIET AND F. WALKER

White Sox Take On Owen, Dixie Walker and Mike Tresh, Catcher

VOSMIK TO RED SOX

Mungo's Status Uncertain As Minor Meet Ends

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 3—(UP)—Supremacy of the New York Yankees wasn't exactly threatened today but activities among other clubs indicated that every effort is being made to plug weak gaps among the also rans and generally tighten up the American league race.

Trades of the last 24 hours at the minor league convention have resulted in the following realignment of players among American League clubs:

Detroit Tigers.—Pitcher Vernon Kennedy, Outfielder Fred (Dixie) Walker and Utility Infielder Tony Piet from the White Sox.

Chicago White Sox.—Outfielder Gerald Walker, Third Baseman Marvin Owen, and Rookie Catcher Michael Tresh, who was farmed out last season to Portland, from the Tigers.

Boston Red Sox.—Outfielder Joe Vosmik from the Browns.

St. Louis Browns.—Outfielder Buster Mills, Pitcher Buck Newson and Shortstop Ralph Kress, last year with Minneapolis, from the Red Sox.

Rowe Is Question

The Tigers-White Sox deal may prove an important transaction because those two clubs finished second and third behind the Yanks and both are likely to benefit from the 6-player swap.

Because of the uncertainty surrounding Schoolboy Rowe's arm the Tigers desperately needed mound strength.

Kennedy, who won 21 and lost 9 in 1936 and won 14 and lost 13 last year, is expected to bolster Detroit's weakest spot.

In sacrificing Kennedy the White Sox plugged a bothersome gap at third base with Owen, who batted .291 last season, and obtained a dangerous right-handed hitting outfielder in Gerald Walker, who batted .335 last season.

Dixie Walker, no relation to Gerald, batted .300. Both Walkers' are 27.

Piet's future with the Tigers is in doubt but the 23-year-old Tresh, who batted .271 for Portland, is considered an outstanding young prospect by the White Sox.

Rookie for Owen

Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers plans to use Mark Christmas, rookie from the Beaumont Texas league club, at third base to replace Owen.

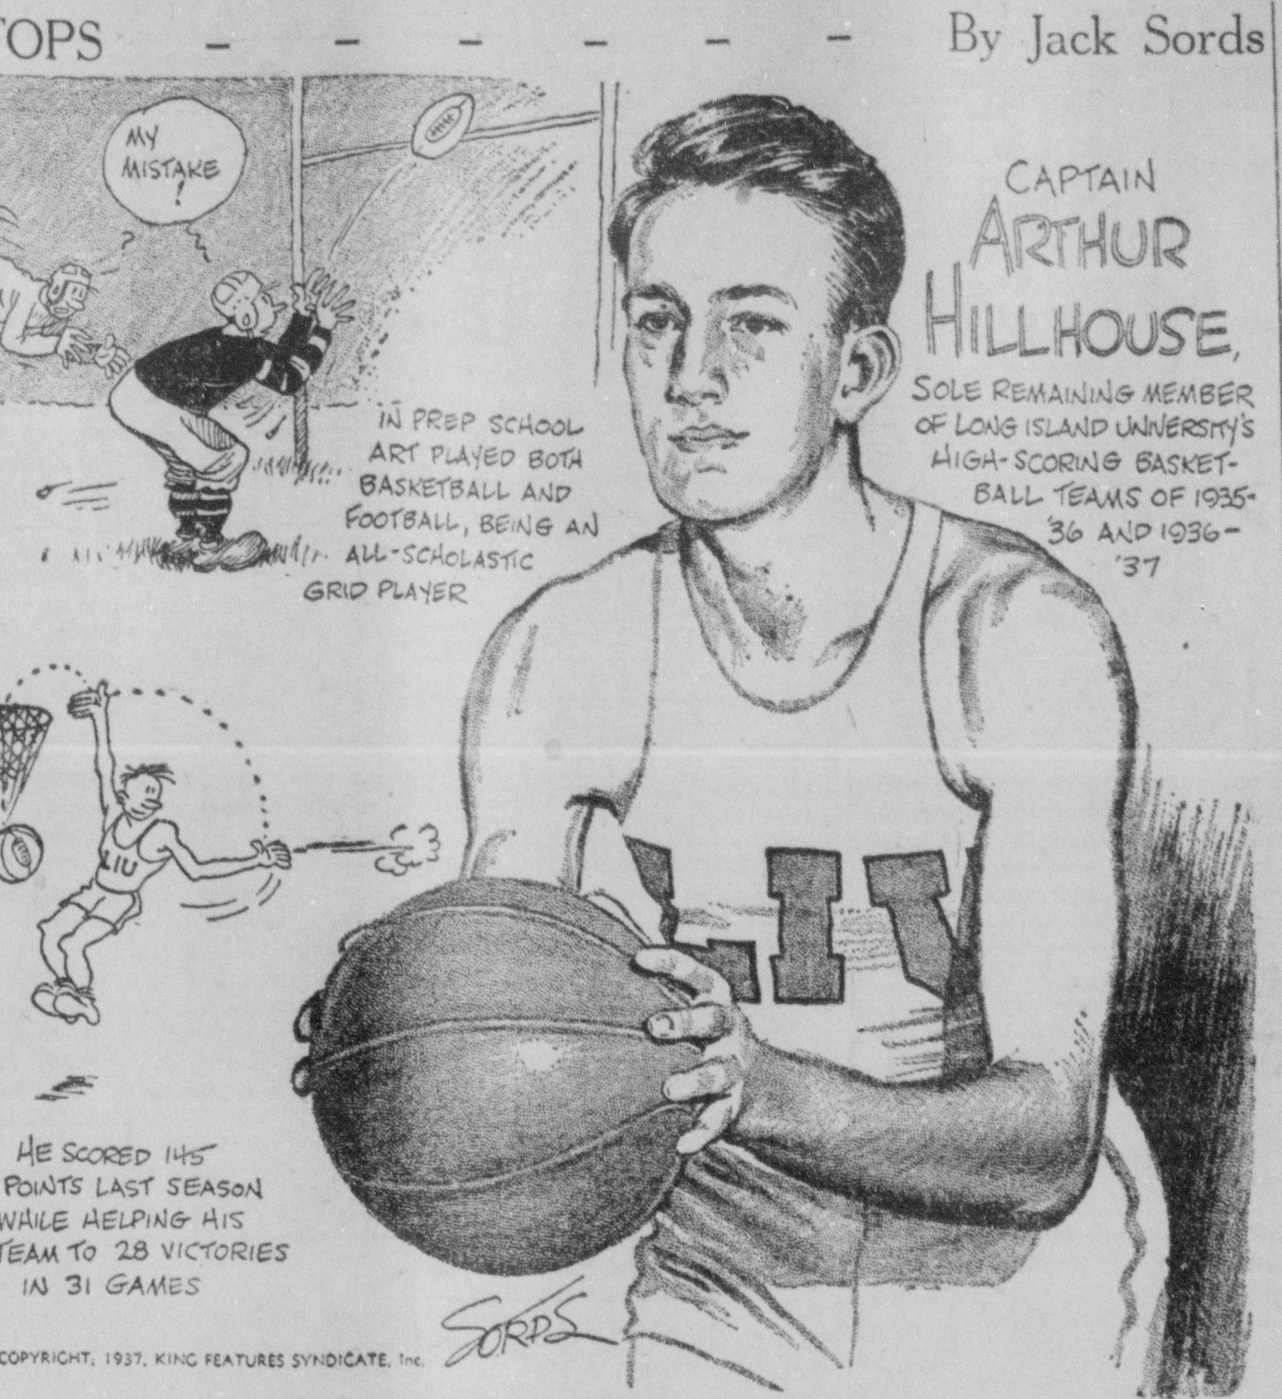

The Red Sox presumably outbid the Yankees in landing Vosmik, who batted .325 last season. The Yanks are believed to have offered Outfielder Jake Powell and others as bait in attempting to get Vosmik. Two of the players sent to the Browns, Newson and Kress, return to the club they broke in with after bouncing around here and there. Newson, who played with Washington and Boston last season, won 16 games and lost 14. Kress, who hit .334 in 158 games with Minneapolis, made a big comeback last season after drifting out of the majors where he played with the Senators and White Sox besides the Browns.

Trading activities in the National league continue to be stalemated by Van Mungo, Brooklyn's stormy pitcher who is the key man in all important deals among the first division clubs. No progress has been made here concerning Mungo's disposal but action is certain to take place at the major league meetings at Chicago Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jim Mulvey, Brooklyn vice-president, will join Manager Burleigh Grimes in Chicago and the Mungo deal will get hot again. The Giants continue to be the favored team to land Mungo.

Coaches Get Jobs

Three new coaches have been hired for next season. Hank Gowdy follows Manager Bill McKenchie from the Bees to Cincinnati, Oscar Melillo, veteran outfielder released by the Red Sox, has signed with the Browns, and Johnny Bassler, former Detroit catcher and later Pacific coast league manager, has caught on with Cleveland. Wally Schang, Bob Feller's custodian, was retained as the other Indians' coach.

SEMI-PRO LOOP MEETS TO AIR DRAFTING LAWS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 3—(UP)—Directors of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress, led by President Ray Dumont, meeting today in conjunction with the Minor League Baseball association, drafted terms of a nationwide system of player contracts for semi-pro teams to become effective immediately.

Directors also voted to co-operate with organized baseball by barring from sand lot leagues or tournament competition any player on the ineligible or outlaw list of minor and major leagues.

This drastic ruling affecting more than 200,000 sand lot players was passed unanimously by semi-pro officials in order to prevent play ras from professional leagues joining semi-pro clubs without permission from organized baseball.

FORKINS SEEKING MATCH BETWEEN MONTAGUE, RUTH

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(UP)—A return engagement of Golfers John Montague and Babe Ruth—this time to a "select" gallery that won't climb trees or swear at cops—was demanded today by Marty Forkins, who wants to wager "any amount" that Montague is the better golfer.

Forkins, who is manager of Montague and several other celebrities, was incensed by Ruth's statement that he had licked the Hollywood mystery man in four straight socialable matches.

"I will cover anything the Babe feels like risking," Forkins said. "Monty is his superior at either match or medal play. I'd like to have them meet in a charity match with a selected crowd that would pay a stiff price for admission. John wants to remain an amateur, so he is not interested in taking money for playing."

There appeared little room for argument, however, because Ruth had professed to believe that Montague was his superior at golf had lost only because he was out of practice. Ruth was reluctant to acknowledge his victories, and did so only after being questioned for days by sports writers who had heard reports of them.

Forkins said that Montague planned to return from California in about two weeks and that a match could be arranged before real bad weather sets in.

Argument Favoring Change In Rose Bowl Attitude May Be Offered

JOHNNY RABB DISCUSSED

Status Of Ohio's Fullback To Be Determined

CHICAGO, Dec. 3—(UP)—One of the quietest Big Ten Winter meetings in years convened today with only minor sports schedules for next year to wrangle over. There was a gentle hint that at least one football coach would present an argument in favor of changing the Big Ten's policy against Rose Bowl games, and another may suggest a change in officiating. The annual discussion of the training table also was expected.

Schedules in track, baseball, golf, tennis, wrestling, swimming and gymnastics will be made during the two-day meeting. During this, Michigan has announced it will attempt to book dual meets with Notre Dame for the first time since those schools broke off relations in 1924.

Tabbs Hits Officials... a-o joult Irl Tabbs, who has just been signed for another year as football coach at Iowa, indicated he will express dissatisfaction with their characters. Scrubs who have sat on the bench Saturday after Saturday and looked up at stands filled with wild drinking mobs (at $1.65 to $3.30 per) must have some very refreshing ideas about life and football.

Well, they'll get their diplomas, won't they?

Up Go Your Profits!

When the summer grass is gone and you have to start feeding hay to your cows, milk production usually drops off. Keep your cows in full production all winter by giving them the minerals and tonic which they need. Watkins Mineralized Stock Tonic will more than pay for itself by increasing the amount of your milk and cream checks.

Not only that, but you will find that your cows go through the winter in better shape and that you will have less expense in keeping them in good condition. Watkins Mineralized Stock Tonic will pay for itself in increased production and in cutting down the cost of feed.

I also carry Watkins Mineralized Poultry Tonic, which will do just as fine a job for poultry as the Stock Tonic does for cows. I will be glad to show you the bargains I have in household articles which will give you a real saving. I will pay to wait for my call and see my line.

officiating. Tubbs reportedly was prepared to offer motion pictures of several games to prove his point. Other coaches, however, were expected to stay away from the subject.

"On the whole I believe officiating in the Big Ten is average," said Francis Schmidt of Ohio State. "We have our good ones and our bad ones. We try to select the good ones for our games."

Ohio State has more to lose than any other conference member. Johnny Rabb, star fullback, will have his eligibility questioned. Rabb is a transfer student from Fordham, where he played freshman football. If this is counted a year of competition, Rabb, now a junior, will not play next season.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

SQUEEZING A PAIR
EVERY PLAYER should know the identifying marks of the standard double squeeze play, which should be made much oftener than actually does. First, the squeeze must have a card on which nobody else can follow suit. Second, he must have a singleton of another suit which is lower than a singleton at his right. Third, he must have a card of the next suit which can be led to the top outstanding card in the opposite hand. That top card must have with it a small one which either opponent can beat with a guarded card. Also, in that hand must be a singleton of the fourth suit which is smaller than a singleton in the hand which plays just before it. With that situation, when the player lays down the card on which nobody can follow suit, both opponents are hopelessly squeezed.

declarer won with the A. The clubs A and Q were now cashed, followed by the spades A and K and a spade ruff. Next the declarer cashed the heart A and the diamond A. With the heart Q placed in the East hand from the original lead, and with West probably holding the spade Q, South now proceeded to force each opponent to unguard the diamonds in order to retain the winning spade held by one and the winning heart by the other.

After running the remainder of his trumps, he had West squeezed down to the spade Q and the diamonds J-6 and East with the heart Q and the diamonds Q-10. On the last club each opponent let go a diamond, so that the K-7 in dummy won the last two tricks.

B. P. O. ELKS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES SUNDAY AT 2 O'CLOCK

PUBLIC INVITED TO SERVICES IN LODGE'S HOME

Six Members Die In Last Year Making Total 111 Since Organization

ATTORNEY WILL SPEAK

Franklin Price To Sing For Afternoon Rites

Circleville lodge of Elks No. 77 will conduct its annual memorial service at 2 p. m. in the lodge home. The Lodge of Sorrow is an annual event in all Elks' organizations. Several programs from other cities will be broadcast during the day.

Six members of the local lodge have died during the last year. They were Christopher C. Meinfelder, H. S. Lewis, C. G. Shulze, George Foerst, Felix R. Caldwell, and Charles M. Titus. Mr. Shulze and Mr. Caldwell were past exalted rulers of the lodge.

Since the organization of the lodge in 1887, 111 members have died.

The memorial service will be conducted by the regular staff of chair officers including Ray W. Davis, exalted ruler; Joe W. Adkins, Jr., leading knight; Paul D. Miller, loyal knight; Andrew Thomas, lecturing knight; Barton Deming, esquire, and C. E. Roof, chaplain.

The memorial address will be offered by James Frederick Henderson, prominent Columbus attorney.

Special music will be sung by Franklin Price, tenor, accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke. Mr. Price will offer "How Lovely is the Hand of God" and "Comfort Ye My People".

The Elks memorial service is open to the public.

MAIL CARRIERS TOLD TO PROVIDE FOOD FOR BIRDS

Pickaway county rural mail carriers will distribute grain to birds this winter to keep them from starving. Postmaster General James A. Farley issued an order Thursday suggesting that the carriers distribute grain, although they could have done so without authorization.

Farley said he anticipated rural carriers would co-operate as in former years in saving bird life. The grain is to be furnished by private individuals or societies for preservation of wild life. No federal funds will be spent.

Hybrid Heroes in Ohio Corn Show Jan. 24-28

Ohio's thirtieth annual corn and grain show at Ohio State university will be held Jan. 24 to 28 in Ives Hall and the exhibits at that time will definitely mark the rapid transition in the state from open pollinated varieties of corn to adapted hybrids, according to Paul P. Preston, research assistant, agronomy department.

The 1938 show will have fewer classes for the common open pollinated corn varieties and will place emphasis both in the competitive classes and in the educational exhibits on hybrids. Corn growers in all districts of the state in 1937 repeated previous successes with hybrids and again found they have definite advantages in yields and in resistance to adverse weather conditions.

Mr. Preston says exhibits at the show will help to prove the necessity for proceeding carefully with hybrids so that farmers will know the need for using only adapted varieties and the necessity for checking their sources of seed. Producing hybrid corn seed requires extra care and farmers of the state have developed a system of inspecting fields grown for seed and of certifying them as seed sources if they are satisfactory.

The annual show at the university usually attracts entries from more than 350 farmers who send in one or several samples of corn, wheat, oats, barley, or soybeans. These exhibits are seen by thousands of visitors who attend Farmers' Week, and trophies, merchandise, and cash prizes go to the winners. Premium list booklets can be obtained in December from county agents, vocational agriculture teachers, or from the agronomy department at the university.

The Ohio Seed Improvement Association which is interested in the production of high quality, adapted seeds for use in this state will hold its annual banquet at Pomerene Hall, Monday, January 24. Tell Thompson, Findlay, president of the Association, says an election of officers will follow the banquet.

ELKS SEEKING TO FORM CHORUS; MEET AT 7:30

A rehearsal of members of the Circleville lodge of Elks who are interested in forming a chorus will be held Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the basement of the Elks home. Carl C. Leist, director of the Trinity Lutheran church choir, will direct the chorus. The accompanist will be Carl Palm.

Members of the lodge invited to attend the rehearsal include Fred Brunner, S. M. Cryder, Barton Deming, Frank Howard, John Hegele, Glen Geib, Dr. H. D. Jackson, Mack Parrett, Jr., George E. Roth, Ray Sponsler, Meeker Terwilliger, Fred Wittich, Adrian Yates, Melvin Yates, Paul McGlinis, Paul Miller, and any others interested in participating.

ROTHMAN STORE ADDS DESIGNER TO ITS STAFF

Rothman's store, operated in Circleville for nearly 50 years, announced Friday that Nat C. Lefko, of Cleveland, had been added to the store's personnel.

Mr. Lefko, husband of the former Helene Rothman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rothman, S. Pickaway street, is an expert designer. He will be in charge of a merchandise styling offered by the store. The new associate has had much experience in ladies' merchandising. He supervised designing for a Cleveland frock manufacturer, and has studied designing with the French school, New York City.

Mr. Lefko intends to expand the ladies' department of the Rothman store. "A more complete representation of all styles is our objective," he declared Friday.

The associate's knowledge of assembling of colors, styles, etc. makes him a welcome addition to the Rothman firm. Mr. Lefko's work will permit the elder Mr. Rothman more leisure time. Edward Rothman is the store's manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefko and their three-year-old son, George, are living at Washington and Mill streets.

SENATORS URGE PRESIDENT'S AID IN RIVER VALLEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—(UP)—Ohio's two senators today joined in urging President Roosevelt to act immediately in making allocations for Ohio river flood protection under the $24,877,000 authorization approved last summer.

Senators Robert J. Bulkley and Vic Donahey sent a joint telegram to the president at Miami, Fla., last night saying:

"We are advised that Ohio valley congressmen are wiring you concerning the allotment of funds for flood protection on the Ohio river. We hope you will give prompt and favorable attention to this request as there is genuine public demand."

The action of the house members followed a session earlier in the day.

Protective works for Cincinnati and Ironton are included in the tentative program of the army engineers awaiting the president's approval.

The Rev. G. L. Troutman spoke briefly on "Lutheranism in America," the last of a series of lectures on the different phases of that subject.

J. D. Hummel recalled his boyhood days in his talk on "The Little Red School House," and Supt. Frank Fischer, with his subject, "The Advantages of the Modern School System," clearly showed the many new phases of modern education, and their distinct advantages were well pointed out. Next brotherhood meeting will be the annual memorial program in charge of the Rev. Mr. Troutman.
